

Junior College Site Committee Faces Big Task

One of the most painstaking and time-consuming tasks of the various committees studying the possibilities for a junior college in the southwest suburbs falls upon the broad shoulders of the building and site committee headed by Chairman H. Harrison Peck and supervised overall by Dr. Basil Castaldi, a consultant from the University of Illinois.

There are representatives of each of the ten high school districts involved in the unprecedented procedure for establishing a junior college to meet the challenges and complexities of the future higher education of today's generation, it was explained by Lawrence Kohl, a former member of the Mokena grade school and the Lincoln-Way high school boards and member of the committee.

On the committee are Emmett Asmus, 20349 Ithaca Road, Olympia Fields, and H. Harrison Peck, 18916 S. Martin Lane, Country Club Hills, representing Rich High School District 227; Joseph Chihak 5770 Archer, Chicago, and Robert Duffing, 5003 So. Luna, Palos Park, representing Reavis District 220; Wallace Cross, 11914 Laurie, Palos Park, G. W. Davidson, 9887-145th St., Orland Park, and C. E. McBurney, 12614-75th Ave., Palos Heights, representing Carl Sandburg District 230; L.J. Rawlings, 7831 W. 82nd St., Bridgeview, and Leslie Faulk, 1116 Vinewood, Willow Springs, representing Argo High School District 217; Earl Johnson, 18357 Aberdeen, Homewood, representing Homewood-Flossmoor District 233; James Ronada, 10020 Turner Ave., Evergreen Park, representing Evergreen Park High School District 231; Dr. H. C. Sigtenhorst, 12840 Maple, Blue Island, representing Blue Island District 218; Frank Veasman, 15127 S. Laverne, Oak Forest, representing Bremen District 228; Mrs. Burness Brady, 9515 So. McVickers, Oak Lawn, representing Oak Lawn High School District 229; and Lawrence Kohl, Mokena, and Wendell Morrison, Frankfort, representing Lincoln-Way High School District 210. Mr. Johnson serves as recorder for the committee.

In the early stages of the programming, the building and site committee is most vitally concerned with choosing the ideal location, Mr. Kohl said. Some sixteen sites have been considered thus far, and a tour of them has already begun. A minimum of 100 acres has been set, keeping in mind that it is preferable to have more acreage to allow for parking facilities and future expansion. On the other hand, the committee is not too idealistic in its planning to dis- card any suitable land of less than 100 acres which would fit all other considerations.

It is important to consider the water and sewerage problem of each site, plus the accessibility to the school from the various suburbs by both private automobile and public transportation, the committee pointed out. It is not only desirable to pick a location that is now in a good area initially, but one that will still be excellently located in the years ahead as the growth pattern and shifting of population occurs.

NO FLOOR PACING of hospital corridors for this father. No doubt he would have been a floor pacer but there was no opportunity. Things happened so quickly there wasn't time for Mrs. Ruth Skistimas to get to the hospital. In fact things happened so fast the doctor didn't have time to get to the Skistimas home at 10200 Hibiscus drive, Orland Park, so the husband, Robert Skistimas, a roofer by trade incidentally, pinch-hit.

The doctor was on the telephone giving the husband instructions and when the baby arrived the father was told just what to do and he did. The doctor then came out to finish up the job and mother, daughter, and father are all doing well as evident from the picture. The daughter is named Cindy Lou. She arrived at 12:30 a.m., Jan. 25. Her weight? Mr. Skistimas didn't have a scale handy at the time.

Business Men To Sponsor Art Fair For L W Pupils

The merchants of the Lincoln-Way shopping center are to display the work from Lincoln-Way high school art classes in an art fair. Henry Blomquist of the Lincoln-Way Pharmacy is serving as the head of the program.

Those in charge hope the fair will do two things. One will be to give the public an opportunity to see the types of art work carried on in their high school. The other will allow the art students to enter their projects for awards.

This is the first time in the history of the school that such an event has been held. It also will be the first time that the art department has entered into any public display of the students work. Kenneth Kinney, the art instructor, at the high school has broken the areas of work down into the following:

Poster and lettering; calligraphy; linoleum block printing; etching (dry point); silk screen; print making (by several processes); sculpture; ceramics; jewelry making; leather work; composition; painting (oil - casein - water color).

Judging will take place on Sunday, Feb. 12. The fair starts on that date and continues for two weeks.

Man Gets 6 Months At Penal Farm

Harry VerWee, 24, of Tinley Park was sentenced to serve six months at Vandalia, Friday by County Judge John C. Cowing. VerWee was arrested Jan. 12 on a charge of issuing a bad check. He will be credited with the time he had served in the county jail.

VerWee cashed bad checks in Mokena and is alleged to have passed several at Tinley Park but no one there wanted to prosecute according to authorities.

school district will share the facilities and the expense. Mokena and Frankfort have been quite interested in such a program. Quite a number of schools in southwest Cook county are conducting such a program with the classes being conducted at Tinley Park.

Supt. Oster reported that it was believed the new addition to the school would be ready for use in two or three weeks. The board had turned to the bonding company to finish the job.

Last weekend the Joliet Concrete Products Co. filed a suit in circuit court asking that a lien be placed on any moneys due Blake Bernard Corp., Chicago, which had the contract for the addition. The concrete firm said it delivered $2,685 of material to the school on Oct. 3, 1960, on order of the general contractor and so far it has received no payment. It also asks 5% interest on the money.

Stanley Ekedahl, president of the Volunteer Firemen's Association talked to the board about having a uniformed fireman on duty at the schools when public affairs are being held there. The board is agreeable.

Group Plans Development Of Industrial Sites At Mokena

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lauffer have sold their farm just east of Mokena, to a group of investors known as the Pomar Land Trust. There are approximately 96 acres in the tract. The purchase and sale of the property was negotiated by Roy Benson and Mrs. Margaret Loebe of the Loebe Realty, Orland Park.

Maurice P. Angland, one of the partners in Pomar Land Trust and presently managing partner, advises that the property was acquired for industrial development as shown on the Mokena Land Use Map. The industrial development will operate as the Pomar Industrial Park. Present plans are to build factories on specifications of the firm desiring the site and then leasing the plant to that firm for a period of years. This is becoming the normal method of developing such sites. Sales will be handled by recognized industrial realtors of which there are only a small number.

Mr. Angland advises that there is much to be done before actual sales efforts can be started. "Under Mokena's plan of development, heavy industry is not desired and it is somewhat unlikely that we could interest the best segment of this type of industry," he said. For lighter industry and those industries which emphasize technical staffs instead of mass employment, the requirements likely are for sites of from ten to twenty acres rather than a whole farm. These industries do not want to be bothered with development of a much larger area in order to secure the smaller parcel needed for themselves. They also do not have the staff to handle this operation efficiently.

Industrial realtors advise that offers of property for industrial use, must come to them in form of a package with zoning, etc. and road grids and sewer and water facilities laid out in an engineered manner rather than haphazardly lay out on the industry itself. They call attention to the many roadside signs offering industrial sites in isolated corn fields and usually with the signs themselves in bad state of repair.

Robert O. Geuther, chairman of the Mokena plan commission, was told by an engineer with Technical & Educational Associates who drew up plans for the Mokena Land Use Map, etc., that Mokena is the only village of its size known to them, that has an industrial district which is being planned in an orderly manner and with acreage available in proper sizes. Both the Northern Illinois Gas and Commonwealth Edison have complimented Mokena for its work in orderly planning.

In August, the Chicago Tribune carried an article on Mokena planning on its financial page and followed this a week later with an editorial titled "Two Wise Villages" commenting on the detailed manner in which Frankfort and Mokena had developed a plan for growth in which slums are unlikely and also where tax burdens will stay in balance and able to support the mounting school costs. Industry has learned to suspect delivery on mere plans to effect zoning and acceptable lay out for the utilities, given by village officials, it was pointed out. They have found that often after locating of the plant, delivery on the promises has not been possible or officials have become vague in exactly what was agreed or understood to have been agreed. In contrast to this, Northern Illinois Gas and Commonwealth Edison officials in the area, comment Mayor James Marti, of Mokena, on his support of the plan commission and its objectives. Without support of village officials, the plan commission could not be effective, it was stated.

Industrial realtors are constantly pointing out that getting the first desirable industry for the area is very important and will set the pattern for those to follow. They express belief that after the first is secured, others will likely follow.

Frankfort Grade School Board Selects Architect

William J. Scheidemantel of Downers Grove was selected as the architect for the proposed four to six room addition to the Frankfort grade school at a meeting of the board of education held Monday night at the school.

Several weeks ago board members, accompanied by two state school representatives and County Superintendent Verne Cracker surveyed the situation and agreed that Frankfort's growth in five years would not warrant a new school. They felt that a four to six room addition at the present time would be adequate.

The board will authorize the architect to go ahead with sketches of the addition immediately. The board will then examine the sketches and select one. The approximate cost of the selected drawing will be determined and a referendum will be held.

Present at Monday's meeting were a group of Frankfort women interested in the establishment of a kindergarten in the grade school. They asked what they could do to bring about the installation of kindergarten facilities when the new addition is built. Board members indicated that they had the matter under advisement.

The E. M. H. program was discussed by Leroy Wright, principal of the school. He said the Frankfort school could not qualify since there was no special classroom or teacher. It was suggested that Frankfort continue to work with New Lenox which has a classroom and prospective teacher. A joint meeting of the school boards and principals of the two schools will be held in the future.

It was recommended and agreed that an attorney be hired by the board to give legal advice on the new addition and in acquiring the title to some property for a future school site.

The board agreed to pay mileage and costs of meals when a department head or the principal of the school attend clinics. It was felt that the clinics enrich the school program and therefore the expense should be paid. Wright will supervise the attendance of the clinics and the frequency of attendance.

Band Director Perry Friedman was present and requested a board okay to purchase a stroboscope. This is a device used to show a child if his instrument is in tune or not. Approval was given to purchase the piece of equipment which will cost about $150.

When Friedman asked the board to pay for all educational purposes of the band, excluding the uniforms, it was suggested that he make the presentation to the board for the next year, in the form of a yearly budget for the music department.

Members hired the firm of Johansen and Anderson to check the furnace of the school. Soot has been escaping and several complaints have been voiced by parents of the children.

Wright also read board members literature on the Civil Defense program. If 16 persons from Frankfort participate in the four classes, the Frankfort grade school will have access to about $800 worth of equipment. There will be four classes. They will begin on Feb. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Ann Rutledge school.

Hazards Of Winter Driving

The National Safety Council in a recent release reminds motorists that while hazards are always present in driving, regardless of the season, winter driving is especially dangerous. A no less authority than the Interstate Commerce Commission, says that its studies show November, December, January and February are the worst months for grade crossing accidents. We would think that in these latitudes one could also toss in March because there is a lot of winter in that month too.

The study points out that icy or snow covered roads make it more difficult to stop in approaching a crossing and too often car and train arrive at the same time.

Closed car windows, especially if there is considerable conversation in the car or the radio is on too loud, may prevent one from hearing the whistle of an approaching train.

Weakened windshield wipers and defrosters do not perform as they should account for a great many accidents, it was said. Reducing the vision of the driver is an excellent method to employ in setting up the machinery for an accident.

One would think that anyone of kindergarten age or over would know that ice or snow on the windshield and back windows and frost or moisture on the interior side of car glass obscure vision. They also know one must be able to see to be able to drive. One can't drive from memory.

But folks try it. Sometimes they wind up in a hospital bed, sometimes on a mortuary table. Many others come thru unscathed which encourages them to try again.

Last Friday we happened to see two such drivers endangering themselves and passing traffic. The windshield on one car was covered with a thick coat of snow except for a strip at the top on the driver's side. The aperture was perhaps a foot long and from an inch to two inches wide. The driver had to stretch his neck in order to see out. His back windows were completely covered and he had no exterior rear view mirror. Apparently he had his heater on because the side windows were all steamed.

The other driver had a space cleared on his side of the windshield about six inches in diameter. The back window was completely blocked. There were several small children in the car but the side windows were so fogged one couldn't tell how many. If the man wanted to take a chance of being killed or injured that was his privilege, of course, but it seemed to be a little rough on the children to run such a risk.

It doesn't take much effort to clear windows of snow. One can get a long handled brush for a dollar or less that does the work easily and neatly.

See to it that your windshield wipers are operating efficiently. If the blades streak the glass it means the rubber has dried out and it is time to replace them. Automotive engineers advise an ounce of arm pressure for each inch of blade length. There are instruments that indicate the amount of pressure.

And another thing, keep your headlights and taillights free of snow.

And something else, don't follow another car too closely in skidding weather. One can pile up too easily.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

What goes on in the children's world of today?

Robert Mann, conservation editor for the Cook County forest preserve district, poses this question in a piece released last week-end.

Very sensibly he doesn't try to answer it except in a general way. He says modern children, like those of preceding generations, "when out of sight and on their own, have customs and are storing up memories just as lively as any that we older folks have."

He also points out that basically there is a little difference in childhood today than in the past -- that children still constitute the world's largest tribe of savages and there are no signs of it dying out or becoming civilized.

Youngsters they say have a language of their own, practice magic and follow customs which have come down from the distant past thru word of mouth.

Not even the invisible barrier erected by certain toothpaste makers to protect TV announcers from baseballs or arrows is as impenetrable as the curtain youngsters can draw when they want to separate their world from the adult world.

A few adults can remember back into their time in the world of children and there are a few others -- quite few in fact -- whose patience, tact and understanding make them acceptable to the tribe and so become acquainted with some of the thought and customs of the young people.

One reads and hears of the inscrutability of the faces of Asiatics, Orientals, top flight gamblers and diplomats but compared to the masks worn by youngsters when unwilling to share thoughts or intentions with grown-ups the professional deadpanners have giveaway countenances.

Youngsters have the facility of veiling the happenings in their world by assuming a vacant, blank look that finally causes the interrogator to be convinced he is dealing with an imbecile and therefore gives up. Or the young savage displays an open, innocent look that coupled with an apparent desire to give full cooperation convinces the questioner that he has emptied the bag, so to speak, and is concealing nothing.

It makes no difference whether Johnny has been gone all day, an hour or so or 10 minutes. The answers are the same.

"Where have you been?" you may say.

"Oh just out."
"Who were you with?"
"Oh, the kids."
"What have you been doing?"
"Nothing."

And there you have it. The truth is he has been having a very busy and rewarding time. He may have uncovered tremendous treasure that ignorant people had discarded in trash cans. He may have driven cattle thousands of miles, fought off scores of outlaws and beat off dozens of bands of hostile Indians. Maybe he has sailed every ocean in an atomic submarine or have been off on a jaunt into space that took in the moon, Mars, and other planet, some of which he discovered himself.

COPTER CARTOON

by owen day

"She loves me...she loves me not...she loves me...she loves..."

He may have been off on adventures as a knight in armor and while he may have been smaller than the Knights he encountered and lacked their skill with sword, lance or battle axe his ray gun or sub-machine gun more than made up the difference and so he was able to get back home in time for supper.

But he can't tell those things to grown-ups. They would laugh, call him a prevaricator or call in a psychiatrist. So what does the youngster say?

He hasn't been anywhere, he hasn't done anything. What has he done with his time then? Nothing.

It is too bad not being able to see what goes on in a youngster's head. If one had some way to pick up the scenes from the world of childhood and transplant them into moving pictures on a screen it probably would be much more entertaining than the regular TV programs.

And just as plausible.

Washington News Letter

BY CONG. N. M. MASON
The month of February is the most important month of our American calendar of months because two of our greatest men, Washington and Lincoln, were born in that month -- the "Father of our Country" and the "Savior of our Country".

The writer has on the walls of his office pictures of Lincoln, quotations from Lincoln, and a facsimile of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's own handwriting.

Plans are presently under way for the re-enactment on March 4 of Lincoln's Inaugural. The centennial observance will include everything from Lincoln's Inaugural Address to a parade and ball.

A WORD FROM LINCOLN: In an address at Springfield, Illinois, on Jan. 27, 1837, Lincoln--then a member of the legislature--said in the course of a discussion of the dangers to free institutions:

"At what point, then, is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer, if it ever reaches us, it must spring up among us, it cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation, of freemen, we must live thru all time, or die by suicide."

PRESIDENT KENNEDY'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS: The new President made the most compact, the most thought-provoking, and the most eloquent inaugural address that has been made during the past 40 years. That is the writer's considered opinion. It was both inspiring and challenging, ending with the following memorable words:

"And so my fellow-Americans: Ask not what your country can do for you -- ask what you can do for your country. "My fellow-citizens of the world: Ask not what America will do for you, but what we can do for the freedom of man."

In commenting on the Inaugural of the 35th President of the United States, Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the U. S. Senate, wrote:

"When one man out of 180 million, chosen by his countrymen, standing by the Holy Book declares, 'I solemnly swear,' he is but the spokesman of a united Republic pledging undying devotion and eternal vigilance to what America means at its best to men everywhere struggling to be free... A free society can be kept only as it maintains its rootage in the religious soil from which it springs -- drawing its strength from spiritual depths."

THE REDISTRICTING PROBLEM: Today Illinois has 25 Congressional districts. The 1960 census entitles Illinois to only 24, so one just be eliminated. How can or should this be done?

Under the 1960 census a district should have around 412,000 people, with a variation allowed of about 15,000 either above or below the average.

The Illinois legislature now in session has the problem of congressional reapportionment in its lap. It must pass a bill that will provide for only 24 congressional districts. We suggest two possible solutions:

1. Cook county today has 14 congressional districts, eight of which have populations below the required 412,000 average; and three of which -- Church, Derwinski, and Collier -- have the populations much greater than the 412,000 required. It would be comparatively easy to redistrict Cook county into 12 districts, making the population in each of the 12 new districts approximately the required 412,000.

2. There are also three congressional districts in Southern Illinois that have fewer than the required 412,000; namely, District 20 with a population of 279,515; District 21 with a population of 354,910; and District 23 with a population of 297,544. With a little rearranging these three districts could be combined into two, thereby reducing the present 25 Illinois districts to 24, the number Illinois is entitled to under the 1960 Census.

What will the present Illinois Legislature do with the Congressional Redistricting problem?

Brigham Young became head of the Mormon Church after the death of Joseph Smith in 1844.

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
COOK COUNTY ASSOC. FARM ADVISER TINLEY PARK-KE 2-4374

I attended a two-day training conference in DeKalb during the last week. The conference dealt with the efficient conduct of educational programs in agriculture and home economics. The conduct of this program is the responsibility of the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. It is this organization that Carl Mees, Cook County Farm Adviser and I represent. Our educational program is planned by and for farmers in Cook county. The program is given guidance by an agricultural extension council, who meet monthly to hear progress reports and evaluate the extension program. Members of the extension council in this area are: William Keuch, Carl Engelhardt, Tinley Park; Harry Cletcher, Lockport; George DeVries, Evergreen Park; George Kloss, Chicago Heights; Herbert Kohl, Matteson; Casey Paarlberg, So. Holland. They are vitally interested in making the extension service as efficient and educational program as possible. If you have comments or suggestions, I am sure they would welcome them.

Vegetable farmers, and I presume this applies to all farmers, when they want information, will seek it out. I attended a meeting of vegetable growers in Lake County, Ind., recently and noticed that some of our Cook County growers also attended this meeting. I talked with Simon DeBoer, Chicago Heights, at the meeting, also Ernst Koster, So. Holland and Royce Dickerson of Libby, McNeil, and Libby. Part of the program was devoted to a new dwarf tomato variety developed at Purdue. This variety, known as Epoch, is particularly suited to mechanical harvesting. Mechanical harvest of tomatoes may become a reality sooner than we think.

According to H. B. Petty, Entomologist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, farmers with cattle will face serious problems with face flies again this year. Flies which cluster around the faces of cattle and horses are very annoying to the animals and could cause decreased production of meat and milk. Repellents are available which do a pretty fair job of controlling this pest.

According to A. L. Lang, University of Illinois Agronomist, soybeans show little response to Molybdenum. Researchers are still studying the problem; however, a survey of 1960 farmers showed 47 had yield increases, 63 saw no difference, and quite a number had no fair comparison because they treated the whole field and had no check. Those that reported higher yields reported increases of one-half to four bushels per acre.

It was reported at the recent Spray Operators' School at the University of Illinois, that farmers spent three million dollars for insecticides in 1960. The majority of this insecticide money went towards controlling soil insects. In 1960, farmers treated over on mill nine hundred thousand acres.

Hints For Homeowners

by: JAMES FIZZEL, ASST. FARM ADVISER

Few house plants have achieved the popularity of the African Violet. Violets are quite exacting in their requirements and offer the home gardener a real challenge in getting a continuous display of bloom. It is not uncommon for violets to refuse to bloom even though carefully tended in an unsatisfactory environment. Every home has a window that will grow excellent African violets. When you begin growing these plants, try to find this spot immediately. If your plants don't respond favorably in a few weeks, try another location once the plants begin to flower, disturb them as little as possible.

African violets like a temperature of 65 degrees to 75 degrees F. at night and about 10 degrees higher in the daytime. Night temperatures below 60 degrees are undesirable. Proper light is also extremely important. Although African violets need good light, direct sun should be avoided except in deep winter. In summer, a north window is suitable, especially if not shaded by a porch or tree. As fall approaches, move to a brighter window. Too much light burns leaves and flowers, and the plant appears very compact, with abnormally light-colored foliage. When the plant is in very dim light, there may be lush growth and long leaf-stems but no flowers. Use the nature of the growth as a guide in finding the proper location for your African violets. Turn the plants occasionally for symmetrical development.

Wonderful specimens can be grown under fluorescent lights. Use a 2-tube, 40-watt fixture with reflector, and suspend no higher than one foot above the plants. Light plants for 18 hours a day. If temperatures are correct, fluorescent lighting can be used in the basement or other areas where there is little or no natural lighting.

Apply lukewarm water only. When cold water touches the leaves, if usually causes leaf-spot -- especially when plants are in the sun. Rather than top-watering, many home gardeners prefer to set the pot in a saucer of water. When you use this method, occasionally apply water from above to wash down accumulated soluble salts. Check soil moisture daily, aiming at moderate but uniform levels. Some experts believe that the soil should be kept on the dry side. At any rate, avoid overwatering or underwatering -- either will interfere with flowering.

An excellent bulletin, African Violets for the Home, is available free on request from the Farm Adviser's office, 201 North Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights, Ill.

READ EPHESIANS 2: 1-10
By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God. (Ephesians 2:8.)

While I was conducting a preaching mission in a village in the United Arab Republic, a man called Yassa invited three others and me for lunch. He prepared us a rich banquet at his house. He greeted us so nicely, saying, "We are greatly honored. Feel at home and help yourselves." Suddenly, his eyes were moist with tears. He hurried at once to another room and shut himself in.

As his wife saw my surprise, she stepped in and said, "I am sorry. My husband is a drunkard. He can't enjoy a meal unless he drinks. He wept because he couldn't eat with you.

A few minutes later, our host came back. He looked at me and said: "Please don't preach at me. I know more than you do what wine is. I have tried all means to overcome it, but in vain."

I replied: "I am not going to preach at you. I believe every word you say. But may I just add a word? There is a power that can save you. You need not try it; just trust it. It is the grace of Jesus the Saviour. Take hold of it through faith."

He did, and won a victory. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Faith displaces our weakness with God's power.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND
The Financial World carries an article on labor contract negotiations that will come up during 1961. The automobile labor pacts expire in August and September. Negotiations are due in trucking, rubber, machinery, and likely in coal. The article states that more than two million workers are affected by about 120 agreements which expire in 1961 and that another 1.7 million are covered under about 60 additional labor contracts that can be re-opened in 1961.

The magazine expects a 6% rise in electronic sales in 1961 to a new high of $10.3 billion. Sales of consumer products in this field, are expected to move up to $2.2 billion or a 5% increase. Industrial sales are expected to increase 8% to $1.9 billion, and military use rise 6% to $5.3 billion. Industry sources expect total sales by 1970 to be in the neighborhood of $20 billion. On a long term basis electronics industry leaders expect this industry to become the nation's largest business activity.

The stock market has shown considerable activity in total volume with price improvements rather general. The buying, according to many analysts has been showing institutional activity on the buying side.

Automation of industry has been getting close attention from labor unions, government and industry itself.

Where labor costs are a sizeable part of over-all costs, industry feels it is forced to seek ways to reduce costs and speed up production. Because of resistance to price increases to reflect increased labor costs, there has been a drop in profit margins of some manufacturers.

It is rather apparent that many labor claims and demands, are based in fear of automation and its effect on employment.

Government officials with responsibility as to our gold situation, are interested in seeing this country's products compete favorably in world markets. They desire greater export of manufactured items to assist in keeping a favorable balance of exports over imports.

The problem is going to be a difficult one to resolve. The profit margins of manufacturers with a large percentage of labor costs, must seek a solution thru automation. Public resistance to price increases has been heavy, regardless of reasons for increases.

On a long term basis, machine aids for labor, have always improved his working conditions and raised his standard of living thru greater man hour production figures and lower unit costs. Machines have made possible the shorter hours and more leisure time and the many "service" industries which have been showing a constant rise in importance. The impact of machines and industrial changes due to this is not new. The rather sudden increase of the automobile and its giving mobility to the population, has had a heavy effect on many industrial activities.

However, workers, labor unions, and their political representatives, are very naturally interested in the immediate problem.

Joliet Doctor Makes Gift To State Hist. Library

Autographs of ten signers of the Declaration of Independence valued at more than $2,500 have been presented to the Illinois State Historical Library, according to Clyde C. Walton, state historian.

The gift was made by Dr. Joseph E. Fields, Joliet physician and collector of historical manuscripts. Dr. Fields is a past president of the national Manuscript Society and author of articles about the signers of the Constitution and Declaration of Independence.

The ten signatures will be used by the historical library as the basis for a collection of signatures of all 56 signers. Walton said. He pointed out that the library already had on exhibit a collection of the signatures of all the Presidents.

Rarest and most valuable of the signatures, and worth as much as the other nine combined, is that of Thomas Lynch,

Mrs. Elizabeth Rechner of Earlville, was a supper guest Monday evening in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Adella Sproat. Mrs. B. Osborne was called to Arthur, Ill., on Saturday by the sudden death of her mother. She and Mr. Osborne attended funeral services there on Tuesday.

Jr. of South Carolina, Walton added, Lynch who was the second youngest of the 56 signers, died in 1779 at the age of 30. The fact that he did not live long enough to write and sign many letters and documents is what makes his signature so valuable, the state historian explained.

Another signature considered "very rare" by collectors is that of Joseph Hewes of North Carolina. Two others regarded as "rare", according to Walton, are those of George Wythe and Thomas Nelson, Jr., both of Virginia.

The other six signers of the Declaration of Independence whose autographs have been presented to the library are James Wilson of Pennsylvania, Samuel Adams of Massachusetts, Thomas Stone of Maryland, and three more Virginians, Carter Braxton and the brothers Richard Henry Lee and Francis Lightfoot Lee.

Invites Girls' Softball Teams To Join League

Spring is not far off and it is not too soon to plan for baseball. As success in any venture means a lot of behind-the-scenes planning, next year's program of girls' softball teams is presently being considered by Donald Konley, coach of the Tinley Park Girls' Softball team.

Konley is extending an invitation to area towns to form similar teams and to any girls unable to play in a team in their own community, to join the Tinley Park team.

In last year's Girls Softball League, the towns of Crete, Bradley, Oak Forest, Chicago Ridge, and Tinley Park entered teams.

Any organization interested in sponsoring such a team or any girls age 14 and over interested in playing on Tinley's team next summer, may obtain more information by calling Konley at KEllogg 2-3466.

AN OPEN SHOT by Lance Roberts (Sandburg) in the game against Thornton Fractional (South) last week-end that added two more points to the Eagles total. The reason this picture was used was to show that basketball photos are not always just a composite of arms and legs.

NOT THRU THE IRON DUKE. . . that chap peering around Duane Warning (No. 33) is from Rich but no one got his name at the time. The name really wasn't necessary as he didn't get around Warning in time to be any hindrance to Skip Kruzich (No. 13) who was coming round the bend here on his way to another score for Lincoln-Way. Kruzich and Warning both had very good nights indeed. Lincoln-Way won from Rich easily but met a Tartar the next night in Peotone and just scraped thru to win.

SANDBURG GETS TIP -- and the young man who got his fingers up their first is Lance Roberts (No. 55). The Thornton Fractional player, No. 50, was not identified. The Sandburg player in the foreground wearing 35 on his jersey is Lynn Conready.

Club To Discuss Ways To Revise Household Items

"The Friendly Cup," will be the program theme to be presented at the Orland Park Women's Club meeting to be held in the Community Center Foundation, Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 15 at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Frank Buck, program chairman, announces a special highlight of the program will be a revision of housewares and gifts, which, under the pressure of present day custom, has tended to take a "back-seat" in many a closet. The meeting will study new uses for such items as mugs, old glassware and chocolate cups and chafing dishes. Emphasis will be on development of interesting and conversation making uses for these and other items in ways attuned to modern informal living. Members having any unusual containers are asked to bring them to the meeting for display.

Hostesses to serve refreshments will include Mesdames, Harry Pihl, Forrest Miller, Ray Doctor, R. J. Campbell and Mrs. Adele Cooper.

Mrs. Chester Williams, president; Mrs. Ralph Town, Mrs. Joseph Kaiser, Mrs. E. W. Schuessler and Mrs. Adele Cooper attended the Third District meeting, Jan. 31, at Ridge Park Fieldhouse.

Knights Defeat Rich 70-47, Nose Out Peotone 65 To 63

BY BILL SLUIS

Two more powerful basketball quintets fell before the mighty Lincoln-Way Knights over the past weekend, Friday evening the New Lenox contingent journeyed to the Park Forest home of the Rich Rockets, whom they beat by a 70-47 score. In a close game Saturday night, Lincoln-Way beat the Peotone Blue Devils 65-63 on Duane Warning's basket with 17 seconds remaining. The two victories moved the Knights to an overall season record of 19-1, and a Southwest Suburban slate of 11-0.

Lincoln-Way's Skip Kruzich played a phenomenal two games in pacing the Knights to victory. Against Rich he scored 11 buckets and 5 free throws for 27 points. He was even hotter Saturday night, when Skipper canned nine field shots and thirteen foul shots for 31 points. Duane Warning did nearly as well for the Knights, scoring 16 and 23, respectively, against Rich and Peotone.

Two nemises fell before the Knights Friday at Rich. The Rockets had never been beaten by a Lincoln-Way team in varsity or Fresh-Soph action on the Park Forest hardwood. But the frosh-soph Knights eked out a 52-51 cliff-hanger in the opener and the varsity ended Rich's seven year streak by a solid 70-47 score.

The Knights scored with vengeance and built a 37-18 lead by half-time. This huge bulge enabled them to coast home as easy victors. The Knights hit 24 of 42 shots from the field to compile a .572 average, compared with 37% for the Rockets. In addition, the victors scored on 27 of 31 free throws, an amazing 87 per cent.

The caliber of competition was much better Saturday night at L-W. The Peotone Blue Devils, who had twice earlier fallen to the Knights by close scores, fought the Knights to a tight 65-63 decision. The Knights maintained a short lead over Peotone thru most of the third quarter and first half, but Peotone took a one point lead at the opening of the fourth quarter on two baskets by Don Singleman and one by Fred Van Iten.

The lead flicked back and forth thru most of the final period, and the game was tied 59-all with 2:08 remaining on a bucket by Skip Kruzich of L-W. Peotone moved ahead 61-59 shortly later when Fred Van Iten sacked two free tosses. But a subsequent free throw and two by Duane Warning moved the Knights in front 62-61 with 1:24 showing. Tension reached its peak when, with 53 seconds remaining, Fred Van Iten slipped in two more points via the charity line.

Peotone held this lead until, with 0:17 flicking past the board, Duane Warning leaped high from 17 feet away and hit with a jump shot to put L-Way in front 64-63. The Devils took the ball down court in a last attempt to score but lost possession on a traveling violation. With two seconds showing Duane Warning three in another free toss, giving the Knights a 65-63 victory.

The eyes of the Southwest Suburban conference will be focused on the Homewood-Flossmoor gymnasium tomorrow night, when the Knights can win their first basketball championship in their seven years of existence. The all-important joust will take place at 8:00 p.m.

Score by quarter:
Knights	20	17	20	13
Rich	11	7	10	19
Knights	14	13	17	21
Peotone	10	12	23	18

Foreign Pupils

Tell Of Customs

Edo Campi, foreign exchange student at Lincoln-Way high school from Italy, spent Wednesday afternoon at Bloom township high school on a panel discussion of "Courtesy and Customs in Other Lands" with a group of foreign exchange students from the Chicago area.

Edo spoke to the group for about four minutes, explaining the courtesy and customs in Italy. Judy Bechenham of Australia, Unni R. Fallan of Norway and Ragnar T. Magnus of Iceland discussed the customs of their respective countries.

The all-school assembly at Bloom was part of its annual courtesy week.

ANOTHER PAIR OF POINTS for Lincoln-Way in the encounter with Rich last week-end was racked up with this shot by Duane Warning, No. 33. That Lincoln-Way player with 21 on his black jersey is Ron Yunker. It was the first time that Lincoln-Way had ever beaten Rich on the latter's home floor.

CSHS Caucus Is Seeking Candidates For Board

The Carl Sandburg high school caucus nominating committee is seeking the names of qualified candidates to present to caucus delegates, who, in turn, will select their final slate to be presented to voters in Sandburg District 230 during the April 8 election. To qualify as candidates, interested persons must be at least 21 years of age, a citizen of the United States, a resident of the State of Illinois for at least 1 year, a resident of Cook County at least 90 days and a resident of the school district for at least 30 days.

Residents in District 230 who wish to submit names of potential candidates are asked to call one of the following nominating committee members before Monday, Feb. 13: Mrs. Clarence W. Smith, GA 3-6680; Mrs. John C. Eymann, GA 3-8766; Leabert Powell, GA 3-4982; John Schneider, GI 8-4306; John A. Brown, GI 8-1358; C. Eugene Sheldon, GI 8-0797; Robert Green, FI 9-2826; Mrs. Orville Schmaedeke, FI 9-0111; Mrs. Georgia Bernard, Mokena 5417.

In addition to the requirements for school board candidacy specified by law, a spokesman for the nominating committee emphasizes that persons seeking positions should have a sincere interest in school affairs and points out that candidates with a business background would help to maintain a board with well-rounded experience.

Three-year terms expiring in April are those of Gordon Bendix and William Blew of Orland Park and Mrs. Helen Hatch of Hickory Hills.

The caucus is only one way to become a candidate for the board, it was pointed out. Persons can still run independent, it was stated.

Dog Problem Knotty One For Area Village's

The New Lenox village board has adopted an ordinance designed to control the dog population, Mokena and Frankfort boards are discussing the possibility of operating a joint pound as a means of curbing the strays. The dog problem, it would see, is general in the area.

The New Lenox ordinance provides for establishment on a dog pound near the new sewage disposal plant. It also prohibits dogs running at large.

Most of the communities in the area have similar ordinances but they also lack facilities in which to keep dogs that go roaming and as a result

Move To Correct Sewage Conditions In 10 Homes

An attorney representing the First Federal Savings and Loan of Maywood appeared before the Frankfort village board Monday night to report that steps are being taken to provide sewer connections for 10 homes in Lincoln Meadows in which the First Federal has title.

The owner has taken out permits for sewer connections and according to the attorney it hopes to have the work completed by June 1.

There are three houses on Franklin street, two on Locust, and five on Willow that are now services with seepage beds. Because of the soil in the area seepage beds will not work, village officials declare.

The village board has received numerous complaints about the houses in question and the village health officer, Dr. Claude W. Otto wrote a letter to the board urging that immediate steps be taken to end what was described as threat to health.

The village board went on record as willing to cooperate with the SPC in its move to erect a pavilion in the community park. Mrs. Irving Rudman, head of the group, appeared before the board last night to ask its aid. She said the plans call for a structure 32 x 96 feet in dimension, of frame construction and with a cement floor on footings. It would be designed so it could be enclosed at some future date if that were deemed necessary. It would be roofed over, of course, but no fireplace is planned for the present. The committee believes stationary or portable grills (which could be had for about $45) would be better and safer for cooking than a fireplace. Mrs. Rudman said they have an estimate of approximately $2,200 per square foot for the building, which would bring the total cost to about $6,800.

The village board indicated it would help the project financially to the best of its ability. The board makes an appropriation annually for park purposes.

An ordinance authorizing the rezoning of a section of Connecticut Hills for business purposes was adopted by the board. The owners have given an easement of 50 feet along the edge of the property to compensate for any move the state might make in the future to reclaim the old Lincoln highway bordering the property.

The board met Tuesday night with representatives of the planning commission and zoning board and the village engineer and attorney to discuss a building code.

The Green Garden Farmers Insurance Co. will hold its annual meeting and election of officers, Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 1:30 p.m. in their new office building located at Center and Monee road near the Green Garden town hall. Members are urged to be present.

Death Takes Carrie Klemann, Green Garden

Mrs. Carrie Klemann, nee Wieting, 79 years old, died Monday, Feb. at her home in Green Garden township.

She was born July 28, 1881 and had resided in the area all her life, her husband, Peter died in 1940 and a daughter also preceded her in death.

Surviving are two sons, Arnold, of Peotone, and Ray Klemann, of Frankfort and one sister, Mrs. Anna Hoffman, of Joliet.

Removal was to the Fedde-Helfrich chapel at Peotone. Funeral services were conducted yesterday (Wednesday) at St. John's United Church of Christ at North Peotone, with the Rev. Ernest Gander officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Five persons have taken out petitions as candidates in the coming Frankfort village election, according to Village Clerk Walter Pfaff.

The mayor, George Sangmeister, the clerk, Mr. Pfaff, Milton Subbert, a trustee, and Herbert Folkers, police magistrate, are all seeking re-election. A new candidate is Wilbert Klier, an employee of the Frankfort Grain Co.

Three trustees are to be elected to four year terms and one to fill the unexpired term of Amos (Ted) Massey, resigned.

Speech Teams From L-W Seek Conference Title

The Lincoln-Way community high school speech team will compete in the second half of the Southwest suburban annual speech, debate and dramatics tournament on Saturday at Rich township high school.

The Lincoln-Way debate team finished second behind Homewood-Flossmoor and Carl Sandberg last Saturday in the first half of the competition. Speech contests are divided into two sections; interpretive and oratory. Interpretive is taking a well known piece of writing and presenting it to an audience. Oratory is the original work of students presented to an audience.

Last year Lincoln-Way finished second, just one point behind Reavis, 1960 SWS winner. Lincoln-Way varsity team entrants in the coming speech contest are:

Extempore speaking: Mike Tate and Joan Sorenson.
Original oration: James Lakin "For the Lack of a Monkey" and Joan Sorenson "Thrice Blest."

Funeral Services Held For Mother Of Mrs. Smiel

Mrs. Bernice Jankowski, 82, nee Lidzinski of Chicago, who has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph (Eleanor) Smiel and family of Mokena for the past two years, died in St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet Friday, Feb. 3.

Born in Poland, Nov. 1, 1878 she remained in that country until her marriage to Joseph Jankowski when both came to the United States in 1902. They settled in Chicago where he worked for a short time in the stock yards and later opened a shoemaker's shop, which was his trade while in Poland. He was killed when hit by an auto in Chicago on July 1939. About 20 years ago she started losing her years ago she started losing her sight and the past 15 years has been totally blind.

Surviving besides Mrs. Smiel are four other daughters; Lillian Vokemann, Helen Key, Josephine Nolan and Marie Adas and two sons Edward and Stanley all of Chicago; 13 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Removal was made to the Fortuna Funeral Home at Chicago. Services were held Tuesday morning at St. Daniel of Prophet Church with burial in Resurrection cemetery.

Chapman Will Address NASSP

A. Hunter Chapman, Principal of Lincoln-Way Community High School, will direct the discussion group on "Social Studies in the Comprehensive Secondary School" at the 45th Annual Convention of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals in Detroit, Michigan, Feb. 13-15.

Board Discusses Clean-Up As Sewer Project Closes

MRS. DOLORES ANDERSON
Tel. HU 5-3651

At the February meeting held Wednesday night, the New Lenox village board considered at some length problems associated with closing of the construction phase of the sewer project. The construction contractor has completed the work with the exception of minor clean-up and street repair.

Acceptance tests to determine the amount of ground water that is leaking into the system have been encouraging, since infiltration is only about half the amount that might be expected, it was stated.

Mary Lou Goes Shopping

Today's food markets with their wide aisles, handy shelves and lighted cases have a fresh outdoor atmosphere that changes one's attitude about food shopping. Not too long ago, taking the weekly shopping list to market was a rather unpleasant task. You would stand in line for your turn to be served and wait some more while goods were weighed and packaged. Now it is so easy and handy to serve yourself and make your own selections.

When it comes to food itself, some times it's nice to turn back the clock to some old-fashioned cooking. As I loaded my cart with an assortment of canned and frozen soups, always so delicious and so welcome as a meal starter, I thought of an old soup recipe I have tucked away in my recipe file. Right then and there I decided it would be Alsatian soup tonight.

I reversed my route up and down the aisles until I had the things I needed.

Perhaps you would like to try it, it's simple and extremely delicious. Make a good consommé and serve separately young tender cabbage in salted water, drain well and rinse with boiling water. Then chop the cabbage, butter an earthenware baking dish, put in a layer of cabbage, a little consommé, a layer of fine bread crumbs and grated swiss cheese and continue in this way, layer after layer until the dish is full, finishing with the top layer of bread crumbs and grated cheese. Put in a moderate oven for an hour. Serve first the cabbage and then the consommé.
